

A QUESTION OF FINANCE.

But It Really Was Not Such a Serious Question.

She—Wouldn't it be lovely when we are really married? I have so many plans.

He—Yes, indeed, dear. I long for the time to come.

She—First, there is our wedding trip. He—Have you decided about that?

She—Oh, yes. At first I thought it would be nice to visit some place near, but the more I think about it the more I incline to Europe.

He—Yes, that would be fine. She—Not an awfully expensive trip, you know. We could be gone about three months.

He—That wouldn't be expensive. She—Then when we got back we could have a cozy little apartment, or possibly a house.

He—A house would be better. She—I think so. We could furnish it before we left.

He—That would be great fun. We might pick up some things in Europe. She—So we might. We wouldn't need more than two servants, dear.

He—I think not. Still it will be nice to keep horses. She—(doubtfully)—Do you think we could afford to on your salary?

He—Why, of course. You forget, my dear, that I am getting $1,200 a year. Types.

Not a Success.

"I took Ethel riding in an automobile yesterday," he said.

"Have an enjoyable ride?" He shook his head.

"The horseless carriage," he said, "is not a success."

"Not a success?" "No, sir; it is not. Between the motor lever and the brake it gives a fellow more occupation for his hands and arms than even a spirited horse. What is needed is one that can be operated entirely with the feet."—Chicago Post.

Born to Lead.

"You remember young Carpler, who used to have an ambition to be an actor, don't you?"

"Yes." "Well, he's playing a leading role now."

"You don't say so! By George, I never thought he had it in him!"

"He's with an 'Uncle Tom' company and leads the bloodhounds in the street processions."—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Safe Risk.

She—Are you superstitious? He—No; I think not. But why do you ask?

She—I was going to get you a pocket-knife for a birthday present, but some one told me the gift of anything sharp cuts friendship.

He—Oh, I'll risk it. I'm sure no knife selected by a woman would cut anything.—Chicago News.

Versatility.

Athletic Applicant—Do you need a strong man?

Manager (of a dime museum)—No, I have one. But I'd give $75 a week for a good living skeleton.

Athletic Applicant—All right. I can train down to it in a month.—Chicago Tribune.

More to His Advantage.

"Dicky, people should live to help one another."

"Yes, ma, but I'd get more pie if you'd let me help myself."—Chicago Record.

Rules for Lent.

All the faithful who have completed their twenty-first year and who have not begun their sixtieth year, and who are not exempted from the obligation of fasting by sickness, hard work or other well known reasons, are obliged to fast on all the days of Lent, except Sundays.

On those days but one full meal is allowed, which should not be taken before noon.

Custom allows a cup of coffee, tea or thin chocolate, and a small piece of bread or a cracker, to be taken in the morning; and in the evening, a collation, not exceeding the fourth part of an ordinary meal, is allowed. At this collation, butter, cheese, milk, eggs and all kinds of fruit, fish and vegetables are allowed.

When the principal meal cannot without grave inconvenience be taken at noon, it is permissible to take the collation in the morning and the dinner in the evening.

Abstinence from the use of flesh is enjoined on all the Wednesdays and Fridays of Lent and on the Saturday of Ember Week and on Holy Saturday.

The use of lard is allowed in cooking.

Fish and flesh are not allowed at the same meal, even on Sundays.

Eggs, cheese, milk and butter may be used every day, but abstinence from all of these is recommended on Good Friday.

Persons exempted from the obligation of fasting are not bound by the restriction of using meat but once a day on the days in which the use of meat is permitted by dispensation.

Children over seven years of age are bound by the law of abstinence, unless excused by sickness or other causes.

The paschal time, in which all Catholics who have come to the years of discretion are bound to receive holy communion worthily, extends from the first Sunday of Lent till Trinity Sunday, inclusive.

Children over seven years of age are bound by the precept of annual confession. Pastors and parents should see that the children comply with this duty.

The holy season of Lent is a time of prayer, of sorrow for sin, of seclusion from the world and its amusements, and of generous almsgiving.

By a special indulgent granted to the bishops of the United States for ten years, dating from March 15, 1896, working people, who cannot easily observe the common law of the church, are dispensed from the obligation of abstinence on all days of the year except Fridays.

Wednesday, Holy Week and Christmas Eve. This dispensation does not exempt from the additional obligation of fasting, where such exists, nor does it authorize the use of fish and flesh at the same meal. It includes, however, not only the individual workmen in whose favor it is granted, but all the members of their families as well.

In return it is expected that those who avail themselves of this indulgent will endeavor to enter into the spirit of the holy season of Lent by voluntary acts of mortification, penance and almsgiving.

A most praiseworthy custom is that of abstaining during Lent from stimulants, in honor of the sacred thirst of our divine Savior.

Those who entertain any reasonable doubt about their obligation to fast or abstain, ought to apply to their pastor or confessor for advice.

EDWARD P. ALLEN, Bishop of Mobile.

JACKSON, Miss., March 21.—The stockholders of the Alabama and Vicksburg division of the Queen and Crescent road, at a meeting here, decided to make an increase of $250,000 in the capital stock, which will be divided among the shareholders in proportion to their previous holdings. The original capital stock was $700,000.

"I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes Mr. W. H. Stapleton, Hermitage, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have got hold of."

One application relieves the pain. For sale by Hannah Bros., 21 S. Palafox street.
